THIS IS DISHEARTENING

In another column is printed an interesting libel on the state of New Mexico which was contributed by a brainy correspondent of the New York Evening Globe. He traveled through this state in a Pullman car, as some more distinguished predecessors have done, without seeing anything except an adobe village or two and some red rocks. Gallup was the only place he noticed which was inhabited by "white" people. He thinks he couldn't be persuaded to remain over night in New Mexico for 10,000 acres of land. He also felt inclined to sit up on his haunches and bark at the landscape. He couldn't have barked. The bray, published in the New York paper is conclusive proof of his zoological origin. The species sometimes dons a lion's skin but he can make only one kind of noise.

What we started out to say was that the education of the ignorant East regarding New Mexico seems a discouraging task when imbeciles are allowed to break into print with such libels as this, confirming idiotic impressions of the southwest which we have been laboring for so many years to eradicate from the Gotham and Boston mind. It is the same proposition as Uncle Epaphroditus from Pesterville, who went through New York in a subway and came back with the report that it was a well lighted town but he was disappointed to find there were no buildings to speak of.

So far as this individual is concerned, one might be tempted to say that we would give 10,000 acres of land to keep him from remaining over night in New Mexico. That isn't the right spirit. Common humanity demands we get this infant back here and lead him around and show him New Mexico. He saw nothing but red rocks; we might show him irrigated farms with aggregate area larger than his state; a few dozen thriving modern cities of from 5,000 to 20,000 inhabitants; lose him in eight foot corn, wade him in the trout streams and let him pick the wild flowers, stuff him with a few carloads of fruit that he never dreamed of in New York, ride him on the trolley cars, walk him through forests which would cover his entire state, turn him loose in herds of cattle big enough to horn Father Knickerbocker's town off the map, swim him in lakes, let him chew the cud of reflection over a few million acres of knee high grass, spin him over highways which make Mohawk county roads look like cowlanes, introduce him to a few hundred thousand pigs and chickens and sheep and turkeys, let the festive grizzly and the gentle doe chase him over the woodland heights and let him sit in humility at the feet of the oldest civilization in his country, and write himself down, as indicated, a shockingly ignorant ass.

All he missed seeing was 350,000 progressive Americans and the richest resources with which any new state ever entered the Union.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

Connecting the Towns

A town without adequate local telephone service is handicapped in the promotion of local commercial and social activities.

Likewise, without Long Distance connections, it suffers a severe handicap in its commercial and social relations with other communities.

Every business community is entitled to this modern and popular means of transmitting intelligence.

In the very nature of our business, and under our charter obligations, it is the duty of this company to afford facilities for Long Distance communication, so far as our ability may permit.

We must do this, notwithstanding that the towns are often separated by rugged mountain ranges, and the cost of construction and maintenance is enormous.

And every town connected helps to round out our system, thus adding to the value of the service.

Inactive Kidneys Cause Disease

"I should not soon forget the benefits I derived from the use of Foley Kidney Pills."—Al. A. Gaffney, Forest Grove, Oregon.

"Too much work and too little work about to have about the same effect on persons past middle age. Proper action of the kidneys is necessary to good health. They act as a filter and remove from the blood poisonous waste matter which if permitted to remain in the system leads to many complications. Many nervous, tired, run-down men and women suffer from pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, bladder weakness, sore muscles and stiff joints and fail to realize that rheumatism, diabetes or even Bright's disease may result. If you have cause to believe that your kidneys are weak, disordered or inactive you should act immediately. Foley Kidney Pills have been used by young, middle aged and old with complete satisfaction. They act quickly and surely and have given relief in cases of ten years' standing.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.
